INTELLECTUAL TRAINING OF STUDENTS OF TECHNICAL INSTITUTE

S. I. Badalova, Q. U. Komilov, A. J. Kurbanova
Chirchik State Pedagogical Institute (CSPI), Uzbekistan.
E-mail: qamaridinkomilov@gmail.com

ABSTRACT

How in modern conditions to improve the quality of chemical training at a technical university? The author connects the answer to the data and other questions with the improvement and development of the forms, methods and techniques of students' intellectual training, the development of their intellectual universals throughout the entire learning process at the university. Among intellectual universals, intellectual abilities are given priority. In this regard, a psychological and pedagogical analysis of this phenomenon is carried out in the article, species diversity is given. Certain techniques, forms, methods for improving intellectual abilities that play a leading role in improving the quality of training of specialists are shown.

Keywords: intellectual, intellectual training, intellectual universals, psychological and pedagogical analysis.