ISSN: 2181-1385
Scientific Journal Impact Factor (SJIF) 2021: 5.723

ELEMENTARY TRANSFORMATIONS IN SIMULTANEOUS TRANSLATION

Miraziz Mustafakulovich Raufov
Tashkent State University of Law

ABSTRACT

This article is devoted to the transformations that occur in the process of simultaneous translation and their types. Simultaneous translation is the most difficult of the translation types. In the translation process, translating every word into a translator is a huge challenge. Because sixty different processes take place in the translator's brain at the same time. It will not be possible to remember every word. A simultaneous interpreter conveys the meaning of these words to the audience. In the translation process, it uses the same types of transformation.

Keywords: transformation, generalization, concretization, modulation, simultaneous translation, oral translation, ways of translation