RED GINSENG AND ITS PHARMACOLOGICAL PROPERTIES

Nurislom Akhtamjon ogli Akbarov
Student of Tashkent Pharmaceutical Institute

ABSTRACT

Panaxitriol and its derivatives are biologically active substances isolated from a natural product - red ginseng root. It was found that they are responsible for its main pharmacological properties, namely: cytotoxic, chemoprotective, chemopreventive, antiplatelet and anti-inflammatory. This review will consider the substrate for such a broad action.

Keywords: ginseng, panaxitriol, panaxitriol acetonide, cytostatics, chemoprotectors.